Accuses U.S. of Playing Politics

By JON HALL
GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Leaders of a group that staged a 30-hour occupation of federal property here accused the federal government today of kowtowing to Mississippi politicians over antipovetry programs for Negroes.

In Washington, the Office of Economic Opportunity issued a statement Tuesday night which said a team of specialists would confer with Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson to "assure rapid distribution of food under terms of the (antipovetry) grant." The department said a grant of $1.6 million had been approved with the Mississippi Welfare Department to develop a system of distribution for $24 million of surplus food.

Art Thomas, director of the Delta Ministry, said "The Office of Economic Opportunity and the Department of Agriculture have been kowtowing to Mississippi politicians who don't want poverty or relief programs in the hands of Negroes who can't be controlled by the white power structure."

The Delta Ministry is an arm of the National Council of Churches set up to work among Southern Negroes.

Thomas, along with a biracial group of 80 other demonstrators, was ejected from the deactivated Greenville Air Force Base Tuesday. A detail of 150 air police carried out the demonstrators who had bolted past guards Monday and camped overnight on the base.

NLR Bonds Meet Public Approval

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Voters here approved Tuesday bond proposals to construct a 100-bed nursing care center at Memorial Hospital and to make storm drainage system improvements.

The vote for the nursing center was 1,497 to 309 and the vote for the storm drainage was 1,493 to 296. The bonds totaled $2.5 million.

Rome Government Has New Scandal

ROME (AP)—Premier Aldo Moro's government grappled with a new scandal today — charges that 12 officials embezzled more than $1.6 million in state funds.

Those named Tuesday by prosecutor Giulio Franco and ordered to stand trial included a former Christian Democratic deputy, Giuseppe Rapelli, president of the state agency for trade worker assistance, and Corrado Bertagnolo, director of the National Institute for Industrial Accident Assistance.

The prosecutor charged that the officials spent state funds improperly on a variety of businesses, instead of organizing schools only for workers.

The 12 contended their activities were legal and known to the Labor Ministry.

Russians Claim Man 160 Yrs. Old

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass, the Soviet news agency, has billed Shirali Mislomov as "the world's oldest man." The agency says he's 160.

In the latest development in Mislomov's family life, Tass reported Monday that he has become the grandfather of his 50th grandchild.

The child was born to his youngest daughter, Galima, in the city of Baku in the Caucasus.

Mislomov's oldest grandchild is 75 and has 11 children, Tass said.

Would Curb Union Use of Member Dues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says he will introduce an amendment to the 1959 Landrum-Griffin Labor Act to provide penalties for using union dues for political projects.

McClellan said in a Senate speech Wednesday that his amendment would also provide for procedures by which employees could recover their dues from unions that applied them on political projects.

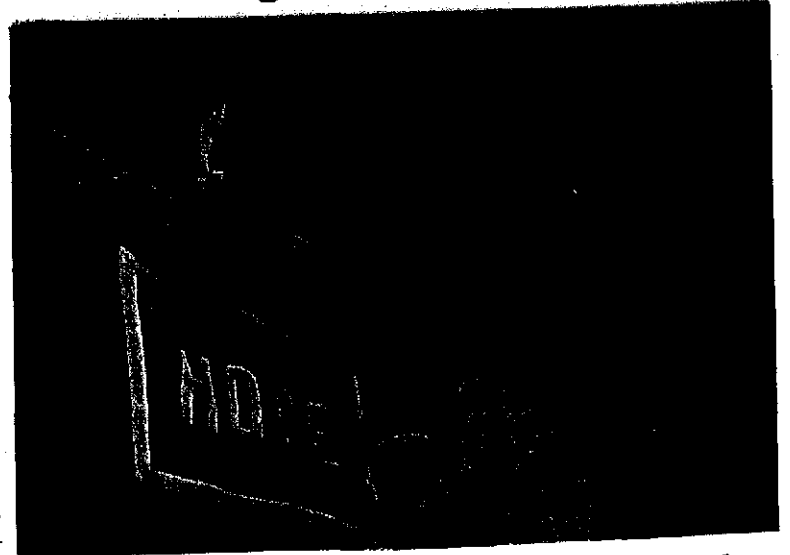

The Arkansas Senator attacked the proposed repeal of Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act. The section allows states to pass laws prohibiting compulsory union membership and Arkansas is one of 19 states with the so-called right-to-work law.

McClellan said his amendment to the Landrum-Griffin Act would also provide that the contract between the union and company be automatically nullified if a union were found guilty of using union dues of political purposes.

He said limitations on the ways union leaders handle dues are needed to insure that unions "represent their members in accordance with democratic principles."

He said union members could "exercise their fundamental rights in an atmosphere of freedom and justice" under his amendment.

Something New at the Gym

A NEW ATTRACTION HAS BEEN ADDED TO JONES Field House by the Hope High Student Council. Nine large brightly colored flags now hang from the rafters.

THE FLAGS REPRESENT EACH SCHOOL IN District 4AA. A project of the Council, the flags were made by Mrs. H. W. Halcher who also made the Hope High School flag for the Council last year.

THE FLAGS WILL BE PLACED ON STAFFS IN Hammons Stadium during football season.

ANOTHER LARGE COUNCIL PROJECT WAS completed in November with the erection of a metal sign over the gymnasium. The special flag committee was headed by Larry Don Wright, chairman, Margie Waddle, Grandy Royston, Gayle Williams, Cindy Reese and Susan Turner.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Second Opinion Desired Before Serious Operation

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Three years ago I was told by a kidney specialist that I had an enlargement of the pelvis of both my kidneys. He said that unless I had an operation on both sides I would develop heart failure in 10 years or less. His diagnosis was based solely on X rays.

I was so worried I consulted a second specialist. He took X rays but he also made several tests of my kidney function and asked me many questions about my present and past health. He advised no operation because he said that, although the pelvis of both kidneys was enlarged, my kidneys were functioning perfectly.

He said that the size of the kidney pelvis alone, with no accompanying headache or high blood pressure, was not sufficient reason to perform an operation which was successful in only about 50 percent of cases. He advised a periodic checkup.

Which opinion do you think is the more reliable?

A—This interesting story illustrates the fact that it is often wise to get a second opinion when a serious operation is being considered. In this case I must side with the second consultant because it would seem that he took the trouble to make a more thorough investigation than the first. Furthermore, the reasons he gave for his opinion are sound. If you had gone to him in the first place, however, I doubt that you would have been inclined to seek a second opinion.

Q—What is Hemophilus influenzae? Our two children got it last year. Could we be carriers of this disease?

A—Influenza is a group of acute respiratory diseases caused by viruses and not, as formerly thought, by the bacillus, Hemophilus influenzae. This bacillus is commonly found in the nose and throat of normal persons. Some authorities believe that in persons, especially infants, with colds or influenza this germ may aggravate the disease but absolute proof is lacking. Carriers do not present the special problem in influenza that they do in a disease such as typhoid.

Q—I have liver spots on my face. My doctor says it is Clostridia. What causes it and what will help it?

A—The term liver spot is applied to different types of smooth brownish spots on the skin. One type, chloasma, appears only above the neck. It may be associated with ovarian disease, cirrhosis of the liver, tuberculosis, cancer, normal pregnancy, thyroid deficiency, various types of malnutrition or may occur for no discoverable reason.

A search should be made for the cause so that it can be removed. Failing this, a lotion or ointment containing the monobenzy ether of hydroquinone may be helpful. In some persons this treatment is more effective if vitamin C is taken at the same time.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Mossler Is Called a Sex Deviate

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A defense attorney says Jacques Mossler was a ruthless businessman and a sexual deviate with thousands of enemies who could have killed him.

The State of Florida says Mossler was murdered by two persons — his wife, Candace, and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers — because of hatred, love and money.

It was on these lines that the battle was drawn Tuesday for a trial that could be one of the most sensational in Florida history — and the longest.

"If each one of the 39 knife wounds in Jacques Mossler's body was inflicted by a different person," defense attorney Percy Foreman told the jury, "There still would be many times the number of people left with real or imaginary justification."

The Houston, Tex., trial lawyer charged in a 70-minute opening statement that Mossler "was as ruthless in business as any pirate who ever sailed the seas of commerce."

Foreman also said that Mossler, 69, head of a banking and loan company empire, practiced "every conceivable sexual deviation in all psychiatry."

In the worlds of business and homosexuality, he said, Mossler encountered thousands of people who could have killed him.

Before Foreman spoke, Asst. State Atty. Arthur Hutto told the jury the state would present evidence that there were three motives for Mossler's murder.

These were, he said, a personal hatred Powers felt for Mossler, "a sordid, illicit love affair" between Powers and Mrs. Mossler — and money.

The trial is expected to last for months.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Dear Y but O: You didn't say but I'd guess you're the tall, stately, quiet type who looks practically the same age all her life. You may resent this now, but when your sister and others start showing their years, then it will be your turn to shine. Meanwhile, remember this: those who know you pay little attention to your age-appearance, and those who don't will be intrigued by a "glamorous older woman."

But now there is a boy I really like, and I have had no experience on what to say to him. He liked me, I know it. He said "hi" to me in the halls, but I just clam up and get panicky. Now he likes another girl and ignores me. He never went out with the girls much though he is very popular, so I thought I had a chance.

I feel I goofed it up because I never knew what to say to him — so, of course, he thought I didn't like him. From now on I am going to go out with any boy that asks me, just for the practice! — P. K. I.

Dear Helen: I'm 16 and have been living with my 78-year-old grandmother for five years, ever since my parents died. I think she is in her second childhood. Up until a year ago she was fine, and now she says she is going to marry this old drunk in our neighborhood. They are planning a June wedding because she says it's not smart to rush into romance. She even goes to bars with him sometimes! The other night I actually saw her tipsy, or the first time.

I've tried talking to her but it's no good. She says she's old enough to know her own mind. — T. W.

Dear Helen: ... And that she is! If your grandmother is smart enough to set her wedding date four months ahead, she's looking to the future, not back on second childhood.

(And perhaps she sees more clearly than you do that a man who takes his nips isn't necessarily an "old drunk". . . Or, if he is an old drunk, four months, I'm sure, will cure her.) — H.

Dear Helen: I always agreed with the girl who said she was glad to wait for the right boy to come along, and not date just for the sake of being popular.

THE OLD LOOK
Dear Helen: My problem may seem ridiculous, but not to the ones who have it. You see I'm 17 and look like I'm in my late 20's. When I was 14 people took me for 20, and now when my 18-year-old sister and 35-year-old mother are with me, I'm taken for THEIR mother! I have tried wearing no makeup, and then I look even older, and when I try dressing my age, I look silly. I don't talk much, but my sister — you can't shut her up. She looks 15, and you can imagine how awkward I feel when she tells everyone I am her "little sister," when I look like her mother. What to do? — Young But Old

THE FAMILY LAWYER
City Beautiful
Not long ago an eastern city banned the use of clotheslines in the front of houses. Although a rebellious home owner challenged the validity of the law, it was upheld in court.

Legal experts reacted vehemently, both pro and con. For the clothesline case touched on a sensitive issue: may a city restrict the use of private property for the purpose of beautifying the community?

The issue arises in countless ways. May the owners of roadside property be forbidden to erect billboards? May the owner of an unsightly junk yard be forced to enclose it with a fence? May a home owner be required to keep his premises from becoming an eyesore to the neighborhood?

Dardanelle to Buy Water System
DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP)—A $450,000 bond issue to purchase a water system from a private owner was defeated by Dardanelle voters Tuesday, 51-305.

The bonds would have involved no tax and would have been paid from revenues from the water system.

A quick look-back for 1965 fashions shows us... the little-nothing dress, the shift, the skimmer, the skinny coat, knee-length sox, boots, belted pants, at-home things which everybody wears out...

The natural look in make-up which takes more cosmetics than ever... the wig, the eye-liner, white lipstick...

The poor boy sweater, grandpa's niteshirt and the granny gown... textured stockings in colors as well as black, more feminine shoes and bows instead of hats...

But with it all American women are credited with being the most chic and attractive of all females and while it is fun to go all out and purchase some of the fads, it is interesting to know you can find more conservative fashions, too.

We at Raley's are willing and ready to go along for the fun, and when it comes to day in and out garments, we promise to give you the smartest and newest, for instance...

The Jeanne Durrell silks are in it if you are going south you will want several. If staying home you will want to select a couple to give your wardrobe a pick up. The two-piece navy-white and black-white acetate rayon looks like real silk, smartly styled and only $29.95.

The black and white tiny striped suit has a black rayon linen blouse looks upswish.

The linen double knit elegant is designed in two piece suits by Trieste with enchanting ribbon embroidery or colorful applique at $40.00.

Honeymoon May Be Over for Johnson

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's honeymoon with Congress, marked by last year's unprecedented legislative accomplishments may come to an end this year.

Some of the President's own top leaders are worried about the outlook.

Publicly they predict that the President will get pretty much what he wants from the top-heavy Democratic Congress he helped elect two years ago.

Their private views are not so rosy.

"It's going to be a long and a tough session," one of them commented privately.

"The President's program includes some really controversial proposals which would be difficult enough to shove through in a non-election year."

The reference was to the fact 1966 is the year in which all 435 seats in the House and about 35 in the Senate will be filled by the voters.

Members of Congress seeking re-election will have to run on their own records, which are made on the floors of the Senate and the House.

Many of the 283 House Democrats believe they will have to defend themselves against Republican campaign charges of fiscal irresponsibility and lack of independence.

GOP leaders have indicated that they will stress their charge that most incumbent Democrats were "rubber stamps" for the President in their support of costly "Great Society" programs enacted last year.

Some Democrats seeking re-election think perhaps this is the year to be economy-minded when it comes to financing domestic programs. They have a built-in excuse for not being as cooperative with the President as they were last year. The cost of the war in Viet Nam is mounting and it's hard to cut war appropriations. So the economy drives will be aimed at nonwar spending.

It isn't likely that Congress will shelve any of the new programs approved last year. More likely it will slow them down temporarily by cutting the money needed to keep them going full speed ahead.

Some presidential proposals, new and old, which don't need heavy financing also are in for tough sledding.

While there is widespread support in the House for Johnson's request to change the Constitution and elect representatives for four-year terms instead of two years, it is far from a cinch that the House will approve it.

It takes a two-thirds vote of each branch of Congress to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to the states. That means 290 votes in the House and 67 in the Senate if everyone votes. Many of the 140 House Republicans and 32 Senate Republicans are expected to oppose the proposal. Some influential Democrats haven't been sold on it.

The President's proposals to establish "unavoidable requirements for nondiscriminatory jury selection," to make it a federal crime to kill, attack or intimidate civil rights workers and to prohibit racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing face formidable opposition.

So do his recommendations in the area of labor, including a new unemployment insurance program, expansion of minimum wage benefits and repeal of a federal law allowing states to ban union shop labor contracts.

Arkansan Found Dead in Hotel
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hoyt Perry, 53, of Springdale, Ark., was found dead in his hotel room Tuesday.

Sam Moran of the coroner's office said several burns were found on Perry's body, but that they did not appear to be recent. He said there was no evidence of fire in the room.

Moran said Perry had a history of diabetes.

Weak Two Bid Has Disadvantage

By JACORY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A disadvantage of the weak two bid is that on many occasions it makes it very hard to get to a slam that would almost surely be reached if the weak two bidder passed as a starter.

Today's hand is a cinch to bid to a slam if South passes as dealer. North will open one diamond and South will respond one spade. North will jump to four spades and South will take over with Blackwood and settle for six when he finds that an ace is missing.

The slam is also pretty easy to bid for a partnership that is used to handling weak two bids and the responses to them.

The bidding in the box shows the method. North's two no-trump response is forcing and asks South to rebid something other than three spades if he has a good weak two bid.

South has a very good weak two bid. He only has nine high card points but he has 6-4-2-1 distribution and his

The kiwi is a flightless New Zealand bird and the country's national emblem. It gets its name from the shrill call of the male. For its size, it lays the largest egg of any living bird. Computers for the Small Business?

Even the Butcher Can Use a Computer

By TOM NOLAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It used to be that only the huge corporations had enough money to afford expensive computer systems.

But now there are computers available for medium-sized and small businesses. There are even some for the home.

A small electronics manufacturing firm in Seattle, for example, decided last year to invest $5,000 a month in a computer system. Today, the company—with 300 employees and a sales volume of $6 million—competes with larger firms whose combined annual sales are more than $100 million.

In Williamsport, Pa., a pharmacist turned his accounting over to a local data-processing center. Each month, after more than 23,000 transactions, he gets a computerized sales and inventory report, a clerical report, profit and loss statement and a balance sheet. Average monthly cost is less than $120.

This is perhaps the most spectacular breakthrough on the business front by the computer—a machine which has already revolutionized such giants as the steel, automotive and communications industries.

The computer is also specifically designed to fit the pocket-book of even the most economy-minded small firm.

Some 25 manufacturers are now producing nearly 100 compact binary-computer models throughout the country.

Says John Opel, vice-president of IBM:

"The services of computers are generally available at reasonable cost to anyone who wants to use them."

IBM estimates that four out of five new orders for its System/360 Model 20 computer (renting at less than $2,000 a month) represent a first-time computer use. Nine out of 10 of the company's desk-sized machines (less than $1,000 a month rental) are being used on the first-time basis.

Walter Finke, president of Honeywell Electronic Data Processing, says that 55 per cent of his company's customers are smaller firms with annual sales of less than $50 million. Some 40 per cent of Honeywell's customers have less than 500 employees.

More examples:

- A three-man New York nuclear equipment consulting company uses a computer to compete with larger firms in such areas as power plant design, heat transfer, fluid flow analysis and radiation shielding.

- Eight small brokerage firms in New York recently installed two computers to do their general accounting work, such as stock inventory and customer records and statements.

For a firm which can't afford to lease a computer of its own, there are upwards of 1,000 service bureau companies throughout the country. These companies perform the entire data-processing operation for customers, making one computer installation available for hundreds of users.

One of the smallest of these operations is run by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, a Milford, Conn., husband-wife team of accountants.

Last June, Ward installed data-processing equipment in the basement of his home. Among his 40 accounts are physicians, service stations, a saddlebag maker, a rug cleaner and even a computer center—which provides its own customers with advanced computer services but finds its accounting is handled best by Ward.

Ward now can crank out a financial statement for a client in minutes rather than days.

"He may be going to the bank to get a loan or he may want to know how his business is doing today, right now. We give him a report in an hour or so," Ward says.

The latest development in computer accessibility is a concept called time-sharing. It gives many users in scattered locations access to a machine at a fraction of what it would cost each of them to use it alone.

Through an outlet in his office, any businessman can communicate with the computer and have it perform his accounting, cost control, freight monitoring or billing chores in seconds.

Two IBM data centers are currently offering this service to about 50 scientists each, all of whom can communicate simultaneously with the machine.

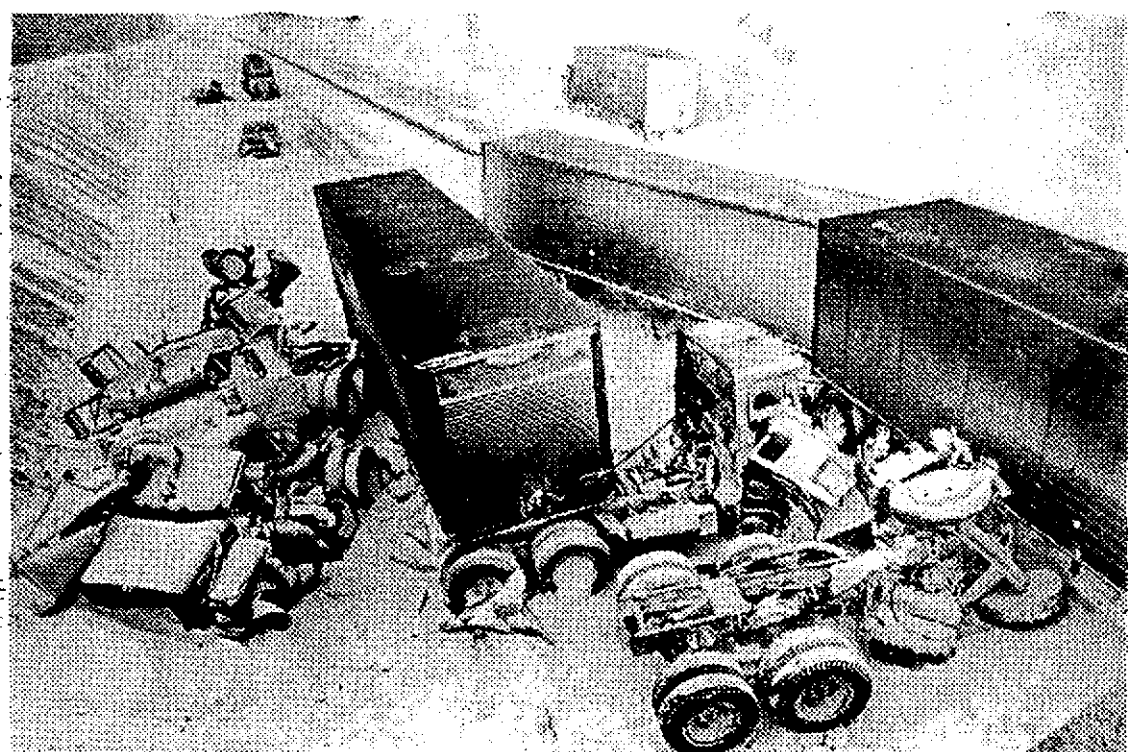

And when the calls come, the computer does everything but say hello. Some cynics are convinced that the computers will one day be programmed to do even that.

PATENTED PATTERN:At first glance it may look like massed television sets, but it's actually the wall of a Belgian political party's headquarters in Brussels. Framed in concrete, the windows are in rubber strips similar to a car windshield. The unique design has been patented.

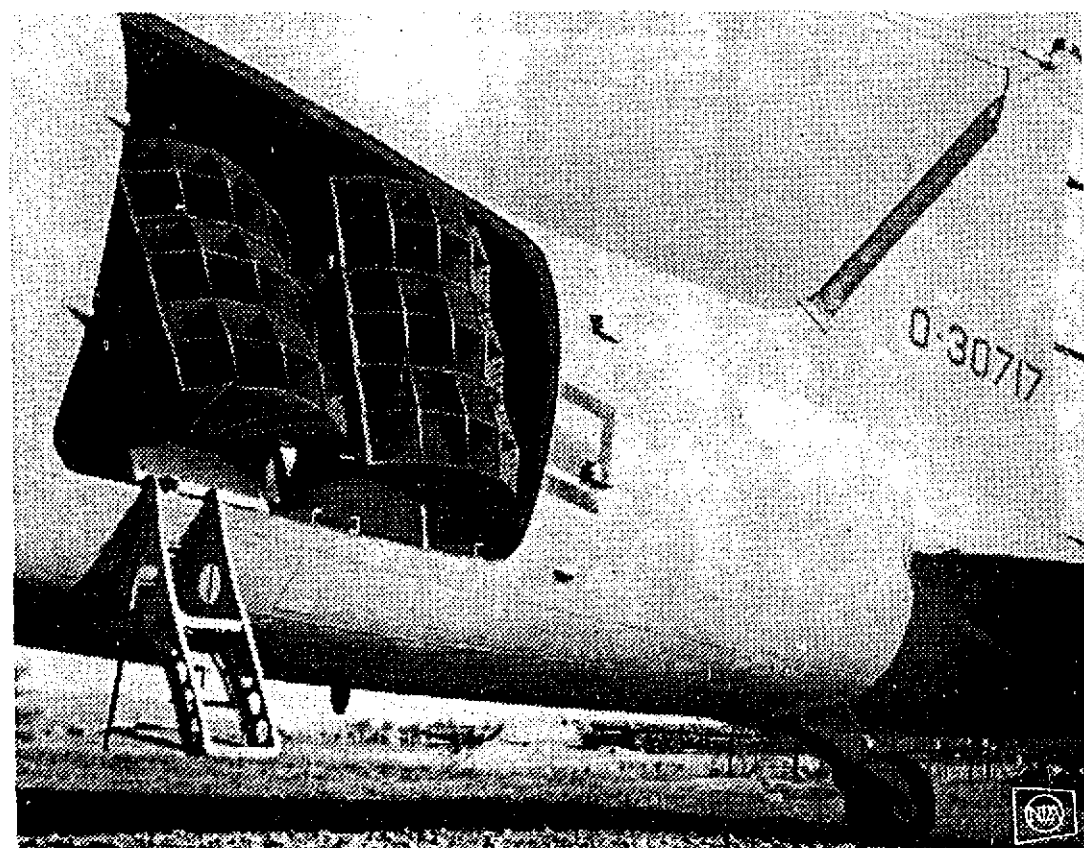

No man can ever know his own garden who is always looking over the wall.—Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

Let us have no self-conceit, no provoking of one another, no envy of one another.—Galatians 5:26.

TURNPIKE CLOSED:Heavy snows and accidents forced closing of the entire Pennsylvania Turnpike. One man was killed in the most spectacular pile-up, above, which involved five trailer trucks and nine other trucks near Blue Mountain.

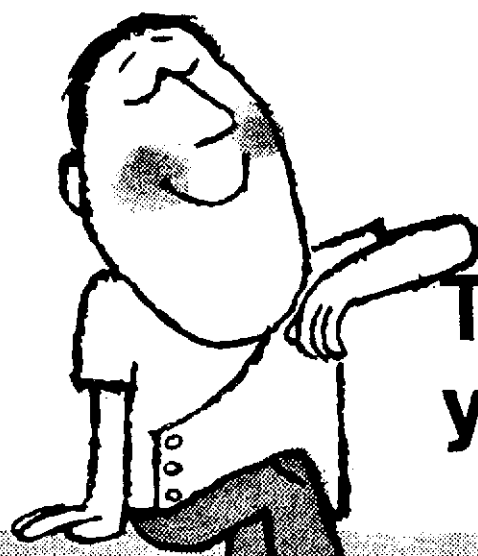

GETTING THE WORD ACROSS:U.S. planes deliver more than bombs on missions over Viet Cong territory. Aircraft also are a key means of carrying on the propaganda war in Viet Nam. The gaping hole in the side of an Air Force C-47 transport, above, houses a huge, high-altitude loud speaker system. In flight, the speakers are turned downward for broadcasting tape-recorded messages to Communist forces.

P.O. Memo Offset Notes That Doggone Dog

Hope's new federal building and post office has a curb-service mailbox — but someone forgot to install the curb. The box is on a concrete island without any curbing to guide a driver in making the right approach.

Originally the contractor set the mailbox too high. That was to protect the box from being rammed. But this made the deposit of mail an awkward business, and now the box has been lowered a bit.

The mailbox is safe enough, but a driver risks damaging his car if he hits the concrete block on which the box is mounted. What is needed is a strip of curbing to help the driver position himself at just the right stop to drop his mail.

The government has protected its mailbox — how about protecting the public which will use it?

The Star got to press at 3:20 Tuesday afternoon, and at 2:40 Wednesday — and both days the papers were ready before the carrier boys got out of school.

Apparently we are over the worst of our troubles with the new offset printing system. Actually we have been delivering plates to the press between 2 and 3 o'clock every day — but there were delays on the press.

I'd like to say we have solved all the "bugs" — but the Gunters boys cooled me off with the reminder that they've been running their new sawmill a year and a half... and are still discovering "bugs." It's an unhappy thought for a man with a perishable product like today's newspaper.

More about that big white dog that has taken up residence in the writer's garage. He now has hay scattered all over the garage floor. And, much against my better judgment, I am feeding him — causing my own dogs to give me a Judas look.

This will go on until Spring — but that ends it. The first warm night down comes the garage door and Rover once more will be "on the town."

New Snow Adds Woe to Stricken Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New snow ranging from flurries to two inches or so fell today almost unnoticed in the drift-laden East where digging out by snowbound dwellers continued.

Another night of cold pushed freezing temperatures as far south as northern Florida, but there was little threat to fruit and vegetable crops which survived even lower temperatures early in the week.

In the Far West, a vigorous new storm brought rain, and gale warnings were posted along the north Pacific Coast from Half Moon Bay in Northern California to Tatoosh Island, Wash.

New frigid air moved south across the Canadian border into the upper Plains with 20-below-zero temperatures.

A state of emergency continued in Oswego, N.Y., on the shore of Lake Ontario, where 102 inches of snow accumulation had blown into 20-to-30-foot drifts.

Main arteries in Oswego and in Syracuse which had 55 inches of snowfall from one of the century's worst storm onslaughts were open, but officials said it would be at least Friday before most secondary streets and highways could be made passable.

An inch of new snow fell during the night at Binghamton, N.Y., and similar amounts were received at Wilmington, Del., and Blairsville, Pa. in the now paralyzed region. Salisbury, Md., measured two inches of fresh snow.

Schools in Onondaga County, N.Y., are expected to remain closed until Monday. New York State counted 23 deaths attributed to rigors of the week's weather. At least 187 storm deaths occurred in the nation.

In hard-hit Maryland where 23 weather deaths were reported, most schools remained closed as crews struggled to free more highways. Baltimore's public and parochial schools were to reopen today.

Newsman Is Convicted of Perjury

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—A weary jury convicted Gene Wirges of perjury at 3:58 a.m. today in Conway County Circuit Court.

The former weekly newspaper publisher received the verdict stoically. "I was not surprised," he said later.

The jury set punishment at three years in prison. Judge Russell C. Roberts, who presided over the three-day trial, scheduled formal sentencing for 10 a.m. Saturday.

Wirges said a motion for a new trial will be filed, probably at that time. He remained free on bond.

The jury, with a mountain of evidence to consider, deliberated two hours and 14 minutes. The verdict was handed to Roberts and he read it from the bench.

About 75 persons stayed in the courtroom until the verdict was returned. More than 100 persons were on hand for most of the trial.

The first two days of the trial were devoted to testimony on defense motions for a change of venue and for disqualification of the jury panel. Both motions were overruled.

The defense contended that Wirges could not get a fair trial in Conway County because of his fight against the political establishment headed by Sheriff Marlin Hawkins. Disqualification of the jury panel was asked on grounds that members of Wirges' political faction are systematically excluded from juries in the county.

A jury of 11 white men and one Negro was seated just before recess Tuesday night.

Roberts announced early Wednesday that court would remain in session until the case was concluded. He kept jurors together and under guard all day.

Wirges was tried on a grand jury indictment alleging that he lied under oath when he testified during a $200,000 libel trial in 1963 that wrote no portion of the "Birdtown Birdie" column which appeared in the Morrilton Democrat on July 4, 1965.

Wirges, who took the stand shortly after midnight, said he could not recall having given such testimony and that he had not heard any evidence from the state Wednesday indicating that he had done so. He then said that he had not written any portion of the July 4 column and that he did not write the series of "Birdie" columns which appeared in 1963.

$2 Welfare Hike, Faubus Running?

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday the welfare grants would increase $2 a month in March or April and steady gains in state revenue indicate probably indicate another increase next year.

The last welfare increase was for $3 and came in 1964, like this, an election year.

Faubus said the timing of the increase had nothing to do with the election.

It takes almost all of the first year to reach the appropriation maximums voted by the legislature in off-election years, he said.

"This is true of the education increases as well as welfare increases," he said.

"Furthermore, the increase will go through whether I run or not," Faubus added.

Commie Trained Huk Leader Killed

MANILA (AP)—A top Communist-trained leader of the once powerful Huk movement was slain today in a gun battle between rival factions of his own band.

He was Cesareo Manarang, 52, who fought under the name "Comandante Alibabas" and had a $5,000 price on his head.

Police said nine other Huk leaders died in the half-hour battle that broke out after an argument over surrendering to police. Manarang was opposed to surrendering, surviving members said.

Hope Going to Higher Phone Group

It has become necessary for Hope to be placed in a higher telephone rate grouping, Southwestern Bell - Arkansas announced today.

The Arkansas Public Service Commission in 1953 set the present rate groupings, to provide that cities of similar size and telephone development in the state will pay the same basic local rates.

Under these schedules, telephone customers in the larger cities pay somewhat higher rates than those in smaller towns. All subscribers are treated fairly, since they pay like charges for like amounts of service. A city moves into a higher — or lower — rate grouping as it increases or decreases in size.

The Hope telephone exchange, which has been in Rate Group IV (2,500 - 4,999 telephones), now has more than 5,145 telephones, placing it in Rate Group V (5,000 - 9,999 telephones).

This is the first change in Hope's telephone rates since 1953. Residence rates will be adjusted a maximum of only 25c a month, and business rates a maximum of only $1.25 a month. The new rates will go into effect with the March 7, 1966 telephone bills.

Prince Goes to Mountain School

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Britain's Prince Charles drove to his mountain school in northeast Victoria today to begin a 14-week term as an exchange student.

The heir to the British throne passed through the rolling countryside in a big black government limousine. Buildings in Mansfield (population 1,943) were flag bedecked for the prince's drive down the main street on his way to Tenertop School, 17 miles farther into the foothills of the Australian Alps.

He was reported in satisfactory condition.

Allies Claim Cong Regiment Badly Crippled

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Allied spokesmen said today that Operation Masher has savagely crippled a North Vietnamese regiment and badly mauled a mixed regiment of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

They called the 10-day-old drive in the coastal Lowlands near Bong Son, 300 miles northeast of Saigon, the heaviest blow ever dealt the troops from North Viet Nam.

A total of 707 Communists were reported killed by the Allied forces, with the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division accounting for the highest count of 514, spokesmen said. In addition, 120 enemy soldiers were reported captured and as many as 75 per cent of the 506 suspects detained were identified as Viet Cong.

U. S. Air Force and Navy planes attacked North Viet Nam for the fourth consecutive day, striking at storage areas, highways, bridges and shipping, but bad weather again prevented accurate assessment of damage. No planes were reported lost.

But spokesmen announced the loss of three in South Viet Nam in the past 24 hours with two Americans and three Vietnamese killed and one American pilot rescued unhurt.

The American, South Vietnamese and Korean troops in Operation Masher were continuing the hunt for a third Communist regiment of about 1,200 men, possibly all North Vietnamese, still reported in the area.

The Allied force encountered only light sniper fire in the past 24 hours. The cavalrymen probed an area on the western side of the 13-mile-square battle zone which was heavily pounded by Air Force B52s from Guam Wednesday in an effort to cut off the Communist escape.

The Americans reported that the bombers had destroyed numerous bunkers and trenches. Some equipment and torn uniforms were found but the Communists appeared to have carried away their dead and wounded.

Cucumber Meet Set for Saturday

A cucumber meeting will be held at the City Hall in Hope, on Saturday, February 5, at 10 a.m., according to Calvin Caldwell, County Agent.

The latest recommendations on cultural practices, insect and disease control and yield data will be presented to the group. A mechanical cucumber harvester will be on display outside the City Hall. This will be a three-row harvester brought to Hope by Robert Holmes of Oklahoma, who manufactures and sells the machines.

Representatives of Brown-Miller company will be present with contract and seed. They have increased prices again this year as follows: Number one grade will be $6.30, Number two $3.10, Number three $1.30 and Number four 75c per hundred pound.

Brown-Miller representatives have stated they would like to increase acreage in Hempstead County over that of previous years, Mr. Caldwell said.

Farmers wishing to purchase one of the mechanical harvesters on a cooperative basis will have an opportunity to discuss arrangements for financial assistance at this meeting.

Train Robbers Won't Exercise

LONDON (AP)—Three participants in Britain's great train robbery serving 30-year sentences have refused to exercise outside their cells since October because they say the 40-by-30-foot yard provided for them is too small, a newsman who interviewed them reported today.

The three — Thomas Wisbey, Roy James and Goudas Goody — want to use a larger yard alongside Durham Jail's outer wall, Alfred G. Brown of the British Press Association reported.

Prison authorities have refused the request because of the escape risk. Two of the 12 men jailed for the $7.2-million train robbery in 1963 have escaped.

Chili Supper and Singing Planned

First Pentecostal Church of Hope, 4th and Ferguson Streets will hold a singing program and chili supper Friday, February 5 at 7 p.m.

Johnson Asks Billions to Hike Incomes

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A blue-ribbon commission recommended to President Johnson and Congress today that every American family be guaranteed a minimum annual income.

The annual cost of such a plan was said to range from $2 billion to $20 billion, depending on its scope. As many as 35 million minimum income level was fixed at $3,000 a year.

This was but one of dozens of ambitious recommendations that grew out of a year-long study by a 14-member National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress. The group was created by Congress and appointed by Johnson to study "technological unemployment and related problems."

Many of the commission findings are certain to arouse controversy. Perhaps anticipating this, it said "today's more advanced ideas will be commonplace tomorrow."

The guaranteed income idea was labeled worthy of further study in Johnson's economic report to Congress last month. Under the plan, the federal government would make up the difference between a family's actual income and a fixed minimum standard.

Almost every recommendation drew unanimous support from the panel, which included several viewpoints as board chairman Thomas J. Watson Jr. of IBM Corp., and Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union.

Among the unanimous recommendations in the 210-page report were these:

The federal government should become "employer of last resort" for the hard-core jobless, paying them to work in local hospitals, schools, police departments and other "useful community enterprises."

It urged that 500,000 jobs be provided initially at a first-year cost of about $2 billion with the program expanding steadily over a five-year period.

Every young American should be offered free education for two years after graduation from high school. Students would move on to community colleges or vocational schools.

Blue collar workers who are now paid hourly when they work should be paid regular salaries, so they would have greater stability of income and additional fringe benefits.

Social Security benefits should be increased and public welfare programs should be reformed and made more generous.

Cotton Surplus More Than Guessed

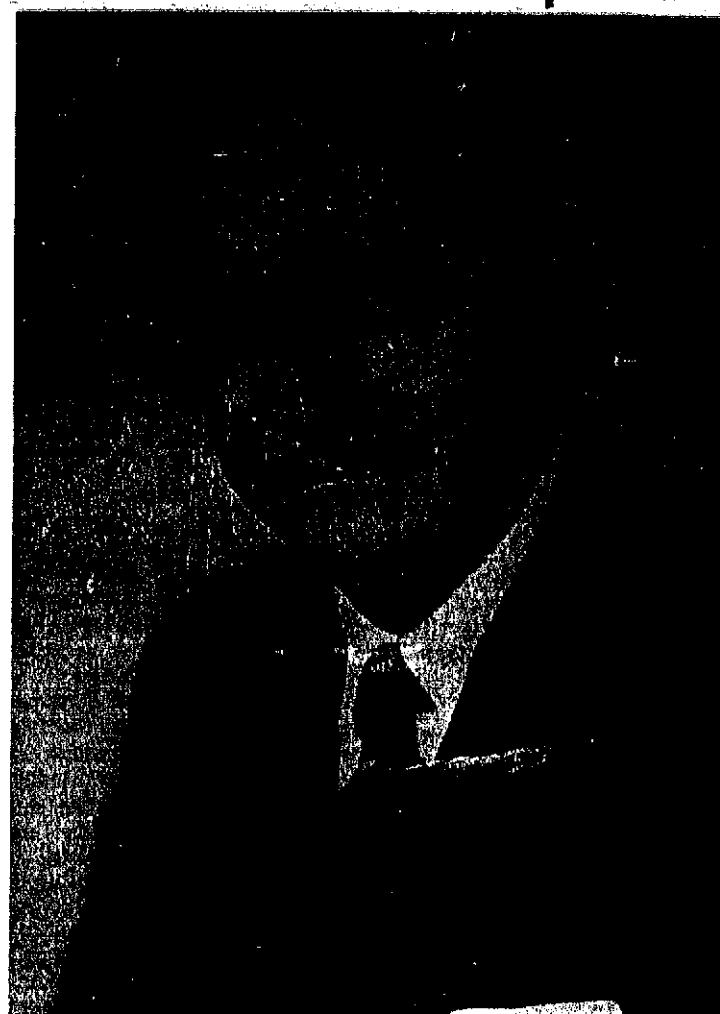

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today weakened prospects for U.S. cotton in world markets indicates that the surplus of this crop will be larger than forecast earlier.

Exports for the year ending next Aug. 1 are expected to total 3.5 million bales, compared with 4.1 million last season. Total domestic and export sales of cotton are expected to total 13 million bales.

The department said this would leave a reserve and surplus supply of 16.5 million bales, a record high, compared with 16.2 million forecast a few months ago. The previous record carryover was 14.5 million in 1966.

The department said the prospective decline in exports mainly reflects a working down of cotton stocks in foreign free-world countries and uncertainty regarding world prices during the 1966-67 marketing year.

Pope Continues Peace Efforts

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI was reported today considering "dramatic new steps" to try to end the Viet Nam war—perhaps even making a new peace trip outside Italy.

Sources said these new steps could include another series of public appeals to leaders of the involved nations and accelerated diplomatic contacts.

The source said they did not exclude the Pope might go to Geneva or wherever else he felt his intervention might help end the conflict.

Pope Paul has pledged himself to serve wherever and however he can to resolve conflicts. He made an unprecedented peace pilgrimage to the United Nations Oct. 4.

Truman Among the Nominees

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman will be one of perhaps 30 to 40 nominees for the 1966 Nobel Peace Prize.

The Norwegian Nobel institute confirmed Tuesday night that Truman was among the candidates after a report last week that he had been nominated by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo.

The winner is named in the fall, usually not later than Nov. 15.

400 Expected to Attend Ceremonies

More than 400 persons are expected to be in attendance at the Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet to be held Friday, February 4th at 7 o'clock in the newly remodeled exhibit section of Third District Livestock Show Coliseum.

"To date more than 70 people from out of town have made reservations which indicates that this will be the largest guest list that we have had in a number of years at one of our Annual meetings," said W. L. Tate president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Guy Grigg, local ticket sales chairman, reported that sales have been brisk this week and that less than 50 tickets remain available to sell as of Wednesday of this week.

Prior to the dinner meeting in the coliseum at 7 o'clock a groundbreaking ceremony will be held at the Site of the Red-River Vocational - Technical School marking the beginning of construction of this project. This event will begin at 4 p.m. and last for approximately 40 minutes. Governor Orval E. Faubus will be the principal speaker and Senator Olen Hendrix will serve as Master of Ceremonies. Governor Faubus will also be the principal speaker of the dinner meet in the Coliseum at 7 o'clock.

Members of the Hope Trade Development Association meeting Tuesday morning, voted to close their places of business in order to allow their employees to attend the groundbreaking ceremonies Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. "This is being done to show our appreciation for the Trade School," said George Frazier, chairman of the organization.

Africans at UN Seek Way to End War

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Africans on the U.N. Security Council were reported looking today for some way the council could help settle the war in Viet Nam.

Council diplomats said Mali, Nigeria and Uganda were seeking to get some general agreement on the subject before the council went into the full Viet Nam debate that it decided late Wednesday to hold on the request of the United States.

One African stressed that they were still sounding out other countries for some breakthrough and were not yet talking about submitting a resolution. But a non-African speculated that the Africans might eventually submit a resolution calling for a reduction of hostilities and a new Geneva conference on Viet Nam without advance conditions.

The United States already has a resolution before the council calling for unconditional discussions among interested governments to arrange a conference to secure application of the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements on Indochina. But the U.S. resolution is expected to run into a Soviet veto if it goes to a vote as it stands.

The council's decision to debate "the situation in Viet Nam" was a headline victory for the United States, which brought the war to the U.N. Monday after its turn-of-the-year peace offensive failed and it ended its 37-day pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam.

After the council voted to hold the debate, it adjourned indefinitely to allow for informal discussion among its 15 members on "the most effective way" of proceeding with the debate.

Paper Towel Saves Day

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

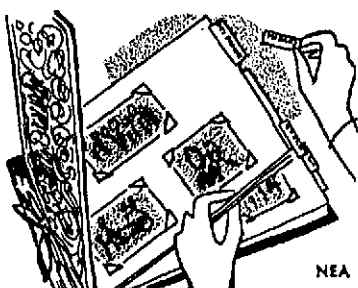

DEAR POLLY—I suppose it is the bleach in cleansing powder that played havoc with the sponge I used to scrub my sink. Now I simply use a damp paper towel to scrub up, and throw it away when the job is done. Now I have a shining sink, longer life for my sponges and no messy cloths or mops hanging around.

Another Pointer concerns sayings stamps. Who likes to lick them but who can bear to throw them away? I save three kinds until I have quite a collection and some spare time. Then I spread them, a double-page at a time, upside down on my ironing board and use my spray to dampen them. A little practice will show you how many squirts you need. Thanks so much, Polly, for all the ideas your correspondents have given me, I hope I have helped someone else with a couple of sticky jobs.—MARY

MARY—I am sure you have helped someone else. You are all so gracious about sharing with each other. I am sure we all feel we have made many friends through sharing our common problems.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for those who keep picture albums. On the first page I put a tab marked "My Family" and another section goes to "Sisters and Brothers" and one to "Nieces and Nephews" and so on. I have tabs that mark pictures taken on certain trips, of particular places and friends. When looking for a certain snapshot I know just where to find it.—MRS. L. R.

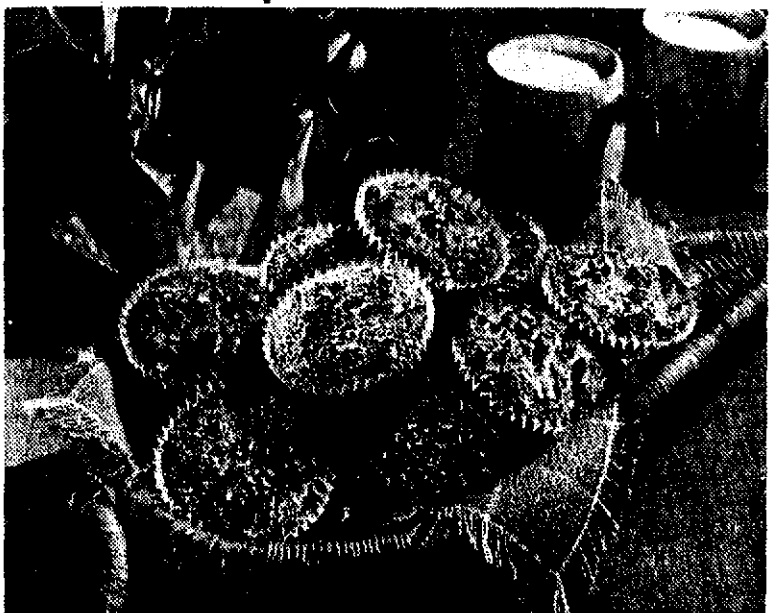

DEAR POLLY—A friend of mine told me that she once read about "Dancing Moth Balls." It was the combination of some solution and moth balls that made them bounce up and down. Hope someone can tell me what this is.—MRS. R. A.

DEAR POLLY—When you need a shoehorn and none is available, try using that little celluloid calendar you probably carry in your purse. They come in mighty handy when traveling.—BLANCHE

DEAR POLLY—The ties that held the loose cushion pads on my maple dining chairs were always pulling off. To prevent this I attached a one-inch piece of elastic to the pad for a loop and then slipped the tie strings through this elastic and tied them around the chair. When the pads move about as someone sits on them, the ties do not break away. I may not win a Polly Dollar but I have saved a dollar's worth of work.—MRS. C. O.

Result of Fashion Extremes Is Shocking

by Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

American women go to extremes in fashion. They're either overdressed in furs, hair styles and make-up or slippy in slacks, blouses and hair curlers.

That is how one foreign visitor, with a trained eye for fashion, Viviane Grey-mour, fashion editor of the French newspaper "Le Figaro," saw the American woman when she recently toured the major American cities.

Though it isn't a very flattering picture, who can deny it's a true one?

We American women go all out when we dress for a special place or a special occasion. Nothing is too much trouble then—elaborate hair-dos, careful and time-consuming make-up, clothes that have taken hours or even days of shopping to select. At such times we are crushed if the slightest thing spoils the vision of perfection we are trying to achieve.

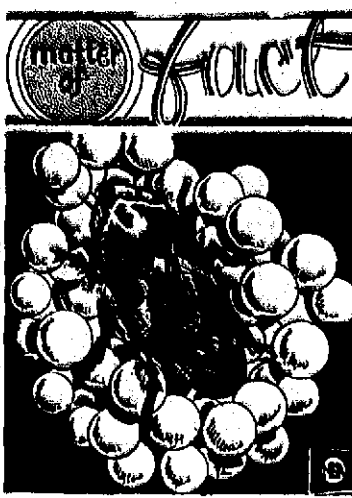

But the rest of the time it's a different story. If we are making a quick run to a shopping center, or to school to pick up Junior, or to the dentist's office, we often don't bother about how we look.

Anything will do most of the time. Whatever we have on around home—shorts, slacks, old tennis shoes, hair curlers, anything at all—is good enough to leave home in during the daytime if we are just out to do a few errands, not heading for a party or a meeting.

The fact that we will probably see more people, and be seen by more, as we rush around doing errands than we ever see at the parties we dress so carefully for, doesn't enter our curler-covered heads.

Until, of course, someone such as the fashion editor from France speaks out in shocked surprise at how we go from one extreme to the other, from looking as meticulously turned out as department store mannequins to looking as if we had never owned a mirror.

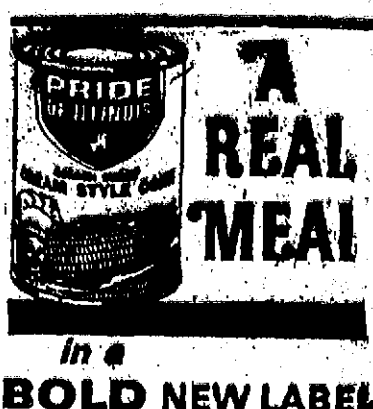

The cuckoo spit insect, of which there are more than 2,000 species, is also known as a frog hopper or spittle bug. The frothy bubble secretion which this insect leaves upon the stems of various plants is believed to protect the insects from the attacks of enemies and also from desiccation.

Valentine Lime Mold With Sauce

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pale greens and vivid pink for color harmony; limeade, honey, cream and almonds for the mold; frozen strawberries for the sauce—add all these together and you have a particularly seductive dessert for a Valentine's party, or for any other event that calls for delicacy, eye appeal and easy serving.

FROZEN LIMEADE MOLD

(Serves 8)

- 2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
- 2 cans (6 ounces each) frozen undiluted limeade, thawed
- 1 cup honey
- 1 pint (2 cups) heavy cream, whipped
- 1 cup finely chopped blanched almonds
- Green coloring

Combine gelatin and 1 can of the limeade. Let stand 5 minutes, then put mixture over low heat; stir until gelatin dissolves. Stir in remaining can of limeade and honey. Chill. Whip cream until stiff. Fold lime mixture and almonds into cream. Add green coloring until mixture is a pale green color. Pour mixture into a 1½-quart mold. Freeze until firm (about 12 hours). To serve, dip mold

VALENTINE LIME MOLD is easy to serve.

Unusual Sport
Grass sledding is an unusual, but popular, sport in the Hawaiian Islands. For sliding down mountain slopes covered with thick, slippery grass, the islanders use sleds made by tying together the long, slick leaves of the ti palm. These grass sleds are called holuas.

TRIPLE BUILD-UP

U.S. troop strength in Viet Nam jumped to more than 190,000 with the start of the new year with the likelihood of more to come. But the build-up which the United States entered in full force only a year ago is not one-sided. Both South Vietnamese and the Viet Cong contributed heavily to the rapid escalation in manpower which marked 1965.

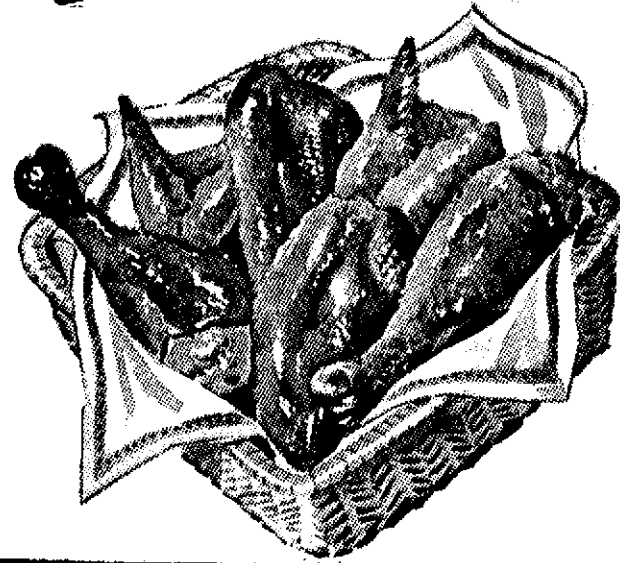

NEW FAD—Actress Milla Sannone takes deadly aim on her role in a new film being made in Rome, "Three Winchester Rifles" for Ringo. Westerns are a current fad of Italian moviegoers and Milla could be one reason for their present popularity.

VIET NAM MOVES—President Johnson, followed by Press Secretary Bill Moyers, strides down a corridor to the White House theater for his television report to the nation announcing resumption of bombing raids on North Viet Nam and calling for United Nations Security Council session on the Viet Nam war.

Business and Government Move Warily

EDITOR'S NOTE — Steps the administration and business are taking to keep prosperity around as a permanent guest are explained in this, third of four articles on the U.S. budget, by Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Both government and business are moving warily into the new economic climate that 1966 promises. It seems sure to be different from the last five years. Adjustments will have to be made by both government and business, and likely by consumers too.

President Johnson in his new federal budget already unveiled and in his economic message due today outlines the steps by which the government proposes to keep prosperity rolling while restraining its exuberance.

The restraints mean taking more money out of paychecks in the months ahead and out of corporate cash tills. The budget also proposes a smaller U.S. Treasury deficit, watering down that form of stimulant. And, more important perhaps, the President warns of more drastic steps if business, labor or the consumer get out of line and head for a speculative binge.

Business and labor are faced with new adjustments to government guidelines on prices and wages. Rising stock prices and heavy trading on the exchanges also focus attention on what the stock market could do to the expanding economy.

Ahead also may be closer government supervision of upward changes in prices and wages. And there is the outside possibility that if either business or labor balk, a showdown might bring congressional action turning voluntary guideposts as to how high prices can go, how high wages can go, into fixed rules set by Congress.

Another phase of the new climate in 1966 is the tightening this year of the 1965 controls, called voluntary, on corporate investment overseas and bank loans to foreigners. The aim is keep the dollar sound in international financial dealing — and thus help in preserving its purchasing power at home. This is an important phase of the war against possible inflation — or further loss of the dollar's buying power.

All this may develop before 1966 is over. But stressed this week are the specific moves being made by Washington, or requested of congress, to hold the economy in line without stinting on finances for the Vietnam war or upsetting prospects of still better times at home.

Restraints already in effect include: Rising interest rates, as initiated early in December by the Federal Reserve Board; higher Social Security tax rates that cut take-home pay for employees and raise labor costs for employers — since both pay more into the Treasury this year. Higher costs of borrowing and less cash in hand are supposed to check a speculative or all-out spending spree.

Asked of Congress, and considered likely to be passed, are: rescinding excise tax cuts on autos and phone fares that took effect Jan. 1, an increase in the airline passenger ticket tax, increased withholding on paychecks in the higher brackets, and earlier payment by corporations of their income taxes.

The President says that all of these would yield the Treasury $1.2 billion more in the fiscal year ending June 30, and $4.8 billion more in the fiscal year starting July 1. It also would remove that much money which individuals and corpora-

Valentines Get Personal Touch

By Aileen Snoddy
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It is heartening in this era of overresponse to hear that those who observe Valentine's Day still maintain their good sense. There is no far left, far right or cool neutrality where greetings are concerned. The sentiments are balanced evenly between emotional/sentimental and mildly facetious/humorous.

According to the Greeting Card Association, approximately 525 million cards will pass from hand to hand on this special day that helps celebrate the rites of spring.

The special quality of Valentine's Day brings out a certain creativity among children. This makes the approaching date a cozy time of year for a home project, and what better way to say, "I Love You," than with a homemade card?

Before gathering supplies for the project, the youngsters might like to know what is in vogue. Leading sellers for Valentine's Day include Sweetheart, Wife and Mother titles. Giant-sized cards top the humor category and the humor follows the mild slam or facetious vein rather than the sick, sick variety.

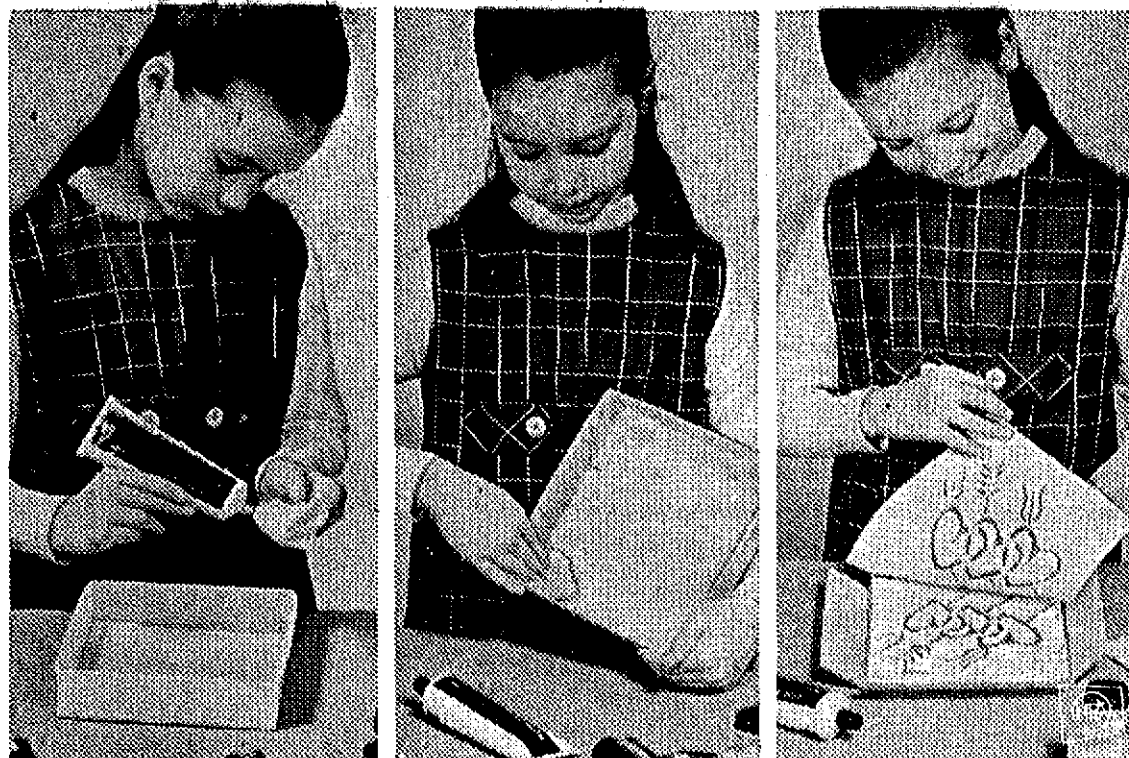

Youngsters can set up their own card shop. Block printing, one of the oldest printing techniques, is good to learn. It requires a little casting plaster bought in a stationery or art supply shop, water, ink and paper.

Two containers are needed for the printing block—one for mixing and a cardboard box about 5x6-inches for the mold. Mix three parts plaster to one part water in an empty coffee can. Stir thoroughly using a wooden stick. When the mixture is creamy pour the plaster into the cardboard box, about 1/2-inch deep.

To prevent the plaster from sticking to the cardboard, coat the inside of the box with a thin layer of petroleum jelly before pouring.

Wait about an hour for the plaster to harden and then tear off the box. The next step is to draw the desired

Home project adds a special touch to a child's Valentine's Day greeting. Kindergarten age and older children can make their own printing blocks, using casting plaster, and a cardboard box. Selecting supplies, the young printer here coats the inside of her cardboard box mold with a thin film of petroleum jelly. This keeps the plaster from sticking to the box. Once the plaster sets (about one hour) the design is cut into the block or is transferred from a paper design to the block. Ink, spread on a flat cardboard, is applied to the block with a roller. A sheet of paper is pressed firmly on the block. When peeled off, it is a special Valentine.

design and message on the block with pencil. Or draw the design on paper and transfer it to the block. Do this by tracing the lines on the paper or to the block firmly to indent the plaster.

Next, carve the block with a sharp-pointed tool or nail to cut away the plaster from large white areas, the printing face. Coat the block with a clear varnish or shellac so the plaster won't absorb the ink when you begin to print.

Select a water-base printing ink in any color. Spread the ink on a flat surface, roll a roller through the ink to coat it and ink the block. Place a sheet of paper or cardboard over the block, press down firmly with one hand and rub the surface. Peel paper off carefully to avoid smearing and let dry.

A child can make a variety of designs and use different colors with each. To use different colors with the same block, clean it with water and wipe dry before using another ink.

HEART LADY — Mrs. William Hannan of Washington, D.C., a worker in the fight against heart ailments for nine years, is being honored with the Distinguished Volunteer Service Award of the American Heart Association, presented by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, national honorary Heart Sunday chairman. Two of Mrs. Hannan's four surviving children have heart defects. Four of five children she and her husband, a Washington attorney, lost also had defective hearts.

Beauty Briefs

Use Clean Applicators
Apply make-up with clean puffs and brushes.

Brings Out Eye Color
Use shadow make-up for color and contour. It makes the whites of the eyes look whiter and also brings out the color in one's eyes.

Avoid Too Much Make-up
Be sparing with eye make-up for daytime. Sunlight or artificial light is harsh on the eyes and too much make-up makes the face appear rough.

Beautify Round Eyes

If your eyes are very round, extend shadow and eye liner past the outer corner. Also extend false eyelashes to the outer corner when you wear them to overcome this problem.

Beauty is Big Business

Ever wonder about the state of women coloring their hair? One manufacturer makes more than 200 shades of permanent hair color lotions, temporary rinses, hair lighteners, and high fashion blonde toners. The firm points out an expected $2 billion plus in beauty salon sales. This represents money women spend for regular hair care and hair coloring.

Salad Sails In Delicious Boat

Easy on the hostess, elegant for the guests, is this eye-appealing salad for Spring luncheons. Using the Washington apple variety preferred for all fresh and molded salads, the Davy Jones Salad is a neat and Lenten-wise catch of prawns, avocado, celery, and fresh apple chunks, stewed in crackling crisp Washington Red Delicious apple boats. Topped with a mayonnaise-sour cream dressing flavored with sherry and basil, this magic medley of colors and flavors promises a successful launching of your Spring luncheon.

Salad:
1 Washington Delicious apple
1 lb. cooked prawns or shrimp
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup diced avocado
1 tsp. lemon juice

Dressing:
6 tsp. mayonnaise
6 tsp. sour cream
1 tsp. finely cut onion
1 tsp. finely cut parsley sherry
sweet basil salt

Cut tops from apples, then hollow out to make cups about 3/4 inch thick. Brush top edge and inside walls lightly with lemon juice. Dice unpeeled tops of apples and apple removed from cups. Reserve one or two prawns to garnish each cup, dice remaining prawns. Add to diced apple along with celery, avocado and one tsp. lemon juice. Mix lightly and fill cups. Blend mayonnaise and sour cream. Add onion, parsley, and sherry (as desired), to that, then season to taste with a touch of rubbed sweet basil and salt. Serve 4.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH Ways Expectant Mothers Promote Dental Health

BY WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For the expectant mother—and others as well—good oral hygiene is a basic requirement in the proper care of teeth and mouth. Since the purpose of brushing is to clear away debris, the teeth and gums (take a couple of swipes on your tongue, too) should be brushed after eating. This doesn't mean two or three hours or even a half-hour after eating, in spite of advertisements to the contrary. It means immediately after eating, before fermentation of food debris takes place. Fermentation seems to be an important link in the breaking down of tooth enamel.

Brushing also helps control infection of gums called gingivitis. Not every pregnant woman gets gingivitis, but due to hormonal imbalance during pregnancy, it occurs often enough to be given the special name "pregnancy gingivitis." Maintaining good mouth health may not eliminate this condition, but it can mitigate it by preventing secondary infections such as "trench mouth."

Many obstetricians feel that extensive dental work should be avoided during pregnancy because of possibility of producing a miscarriage in the beginning months and inducing premature labor in the last months. Final evaluation in this matter must be made on an individual basis, depending on mental and physical health of the patient and previous history.

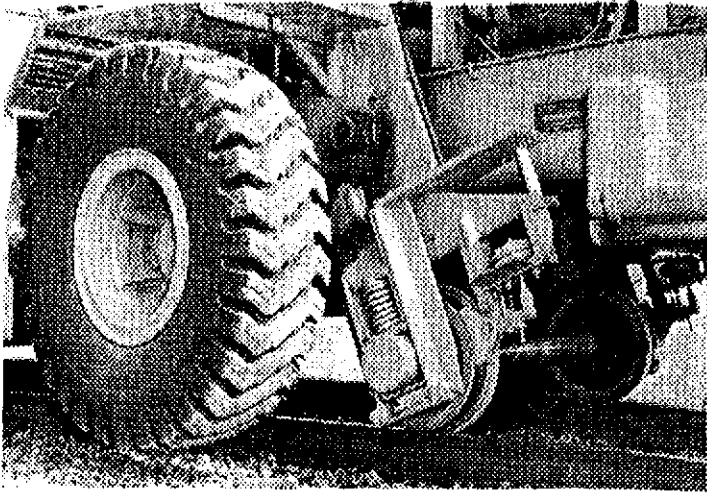

X rays should be avoided. When diagnostic X rays must be taken, many dentists wisely use a leaded apron on their patients to protect the fetus from spray radiation.

Antibiotics may be taken as usual precautions, but the group of antibiotics known as tetracyclines should be avoided from the fourth month of pregnancy when the teeth begin to form, since these drugs produce permanent staining (usually brown) of the baby teeth.

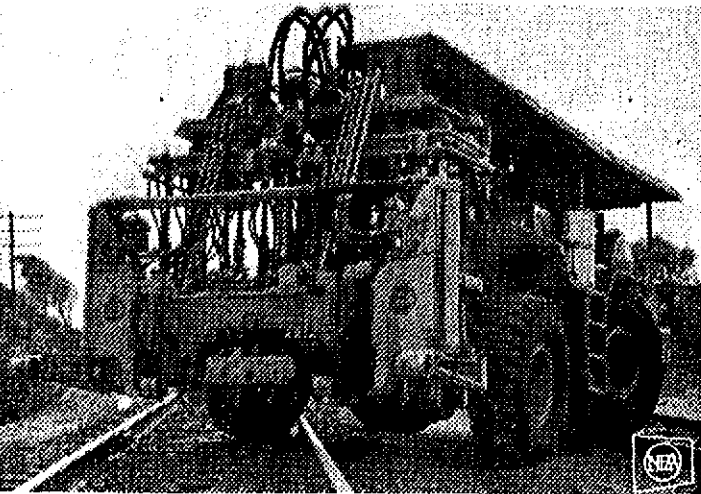

There are some diseases which can be transmitted to the child. For example, maternal syphilis, rare these days, in the newborn, too, and which become permanently stained and misshapen; vaginal thrush, more common, sometimes causes oral thrush in the child. This makes feeding a problem and can have even more serious consequences.

The first visit to the obstetrician should be followed by a visit to your dentist so that your teeth and gums may be examined and examined, and plans made for other necessary treatment.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of the editor. While he cannot answer every letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

DELIBERATE DERAILING—A maintenance machine which can ride the rails has been put to use by the Southern Pacific Railroad. A roadbed tamper weighing 51,000 pounds, the vehicle takes to the tracks on steel flange wheels, left, which can be instantly retracted, permitting the tamper to move off the right-of-way on heavy-duty tires when the track must be cleared for a passenger or freight train.

Spanish Olives Store Well

by Gaynor Maddox, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thousands of feet high over the Atlantic at 600 miles per hour, the chef's tall hat of Don Perez rode as unperturbed as a duck in a pond. He was the steward-chef on our home-bound Iberian jet, and he revealed a wide knowledge of fine Spanish food.

Our first question to our Iberian steward-chef was what is the best way to store green olives after you've taken some out of the bottles. In effect, this was his reply:

Green olives, whether unstuffed or stuffed with pimento, anchovies, etc., are packed in a brine solution containing lactic acid. Both the brine and the lactic acid act as preservatives, so an opened jar of green olives presents no great storage problems. Refrigeration prolongs the storage life. Occasionally, after prolonged storage, even under refrigeration, a thin film of mold will form on the top of a jar of olives. This does not indicate the olives are "bad." Transferring the olives and brine to a smaller jar, thus reducing the air space between the olives and jar top, will inhibit the formation of this film.

Tire Confusion Puts Consumer in Back Seat

Buying a tire for a passenger car can be one of the most confusing experiences a consumer can encounter. In spite of recent legislative committee inquiries there still is little standardization.

A consumer must cut through a maze of varying prices for the same or similar quality tires. Performance is not easily determined, either, because one company's premium may be called first-level or super-premium by another.

This puts the consumer in the back seat when he shops for tires. And no wonder. According to Consumer Reports, there are about 1,000 different tire models on the market, made by only 14 rubber companies and their subsidiaries. It would seem that with this small number of manufacturers a few heads could get together to consider the consumer's pocketbook and, more important, his safety when on the highway.

Those shopping for tires to replace original equipment tires can go to a gasoline station, auto supply store, department store or order through mail-order catalogue outlets. Even some supermarkets sell tires.

With so many outlets it would seem that to "shop around for the better buy" would certainly be sound advice. With tires this is not necessarily true.

It is safer to buy tires from someone whose judgment is respected and one who has his customers in mind.

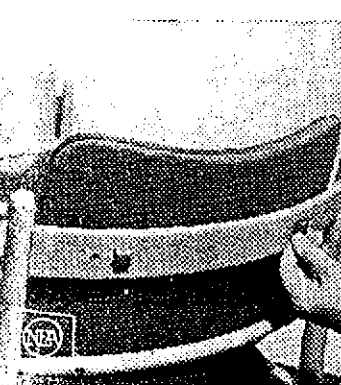

An executive with an association of rayon tire cord producers points out that there is not all when buying a tire. A tire must perform according to George I. Noyes, executive vice president of Goodyear. "There are some who feel that if they pay more, they get a better tire," he points out. "They are paying for a heavier tire with the tread which will not necessarily give them the mileage per dollar."

The truth about tires, he says, is that they wear faster on a longer ride than tires of a few years ago because of faster speeds.

The heat generated by tires on a fast speed driving, for example, hastens tire wear because, he explains, heat and rubber are enemies. The problem is partially offset through the use of the two-ply tire which is a cooler tire. However, the two-ply tire is as difficult to sell to a car owner, he points out, as rayon cord is although 97 per cent of the original equipment tires are rayon cord.

Things are looking up, he feels, "with Detroit considering the original equipment tire as much a precision part of the car as the carburetor and the need of uniformity to retain built-in value of cars." However, those in Akron, Ohio, home of the tire, tend to blame Detroit demands for many inequities in tire performance levels.

Here, following instruction on inflation, shoring tires to expand wear and keeping wheels properly aligned do add to the life and safety of tires that are not cheapies under $10.

Radial ply tires (which cost about 25 per cent more but last about 50 per cent more according to Goodyear's according to test-marketed in Dallas and San Diego. The radial tire, he says, is a "longer riding tire at low speeds but is designed to offset many problems related to high speed driving. Radials are safer at impact than high speed than other types. There is a considerable price a consumer pays for a set of tires usually between $10 and $20. The task of estimating the dollar value per tire is a difficult one for the many named tire companies. Premium models of tires are hard to buy.

The legislative committee will effect standardization in this field when so many tires and pocketbooks, depend upon it.
